1. Introduction

- 1.1 The purpose of the procedure is to allow the Trust to deal fairly and consistently with a concern or complaint relating to an aspect of an employee's employment. The Trust wants to ensure that when an employee raises a concern or a complaint, it will be dealt with promptly and an effective resolution achieved.

Once adopted, this procedure will apply to concerns or complaints relating to the way in which an employee believes they have been treated by the Trust or by Managers acting on its behalf. Some examples would include concerns about:

- working relationships with other colleagues or Managers;
- bullying, harassment, victimisation and discrimination;
- new work practices, i.e. working patterns, new systems;
- working environment or working conditions;
- the impact of organisational change;
- health and safety.

This procedure will not apply where the Trust already has well established alternative procedures for dealing with such matters as:

- pay and grading (Pay Policy);
- selection for compulsory redundancy (Redundancy Procedure);
- ill health retirement (Sickness Absence Management Policy);
- requests for flexible working (Flexible Working Policy);
- whistle blowing (Confidential Reporting code).
- disciplinary matters. Complaints that amount to an allegation of misconduct on the part of another employee will be investigated and dealt with under the disciplinary procedure. Complaints about any disciplinary action taken against an employee will be dealt with as an appeal under the disciplinary procedure;
- issues that are the subject of collective negotiation or consultation with recognised trade unions

Please contact the Trust's HR Advisor if further advice is needed.

2. Principles

- 2.1 The primary objective of the Grievance Resolution Procedure is to seek to resolve workplace concerns as quickly as possible in a non-adversarial way and as close to the source of the problem as possible.
- 2.2 Individuals must be reassured that they will not be victimised for raising a concern or acting as a witness or representative for another employee. If there is an allegation of victimisation against an employee by the complainant or witness, the matter will be dealt with through the disciplinary procedure.

- 2.3 The Trust expects that all concerns are raised in good faith. Any employee raising a concern which is considered to be vexatious or malicious will be dealt with through the disciplinary procedure.
- 2.4 It is important that it is recognised that there is often more than one party in a workplace dispute:
 - The person who experiences the problem (the complainant); and
 - The person or persons identified as being the cause of the problem (the subject of the complaint).

In seeking a resolution, it is important that no party is pre-judged.

- 2.5 The Trust expects, as far as possible, all parties to be involved in the process of seeking a resolution and expects all parties to co-operate with the process of achieving a resolution.
- 2.6 All parties should be provided with support/contact from a Manager who is not involved in the process.

Formal Grievance Hearings will be heard by the Headteacher/Line Manager. If the Headteacher is the source of the complaint, by a Local Governor or a panel of 2 or 3 Local Governors, normally with the Trust's professional HR Advisor also in attendance. For staff employed in the central team, if the Line Manager is the source of the complaint, it will be heard by a Director or a panel of 2 or 3 Directors, normally with the Trust's professional HR Advisor also in attendance.

Employees, or their representatives, are not permitted to record electronically any meeting held under this grievance procedure including investigation meetings. This is to encourage openness and full participation by all parties during meetings. Any breach of this provision may lead to disciplinary action against the employee, up to and including dismissal.

- 2.7 An employee is not able to raise concerns on behalf of other colleagues. Managers are strongly advised to seek support from their professional HR Advisor in relation to conducting investigations and grievance hearings.

3. Disciplinary Action

- 3.1 During the procedure of trying to achieve a resolution, if at any time Managers identify that a breach of the Dignity at Work Code of Practice has occurred, or other breaches in procedures or misconduct by staff, they should consider applying the Disciplinary Procedure and undertaking a formal investigation under that Procedure.

- 3.2 Where it is decided to invoke the Disciplinary Procedure, management reserves the right to determine the level of confidentiality to be maintained regarding the outcome of the hearing. While it would be considered appropriate for the complainant to know there has been a disciplinary hearing/disciplinary action, in most cases, it would not be considered appropriate to report to the complainant the details of the disciplinary action taken.

4. Counter Claims

- 4.1 Managers/Local Governors/Directors should be aware of the potential for counter claims to be made by those against whom the original complaint has been made.
- 4.2 A process to seek a resolution to the original complaint should not be discontinued merely because a counter claim is raised subsequently. If possible, the two complaints should be considered together when seeking a resolution.

5. Confidentiality

- 5.1 As a general principle, confidentiality will be agreed and maintained wherever possible throughout the process of dealing with a complaint.
- 5.2 However, there may be circumstances where it will be necessary, in order to achieve the required resolution, for other employees/clients to be made aware of the nature of the complaint.

In exceptional circumstances, evidence given by individuals during an investigation into a complainant's concerns may have to remain confidential. Where confidentiality is necessary, this will be explained to the complainant and an appropriate summary of the evidence gathered will be given to them.

- 5.3 Although a complaint may have been made in confidence, the Trust will not knowingly aid unlawful behaviour or cases where there is violence or an existing threat of violence and may have no alternative but to breach that confidence in order to comply with its duties under the law.
- 5.4 The Trust processes personal data collected during informal complaints and the formal grievance procedure in accordance with its data protection policy. In particular, data collected as part of informal complaints and the grievance procedure is held securely and accessed by, and disclosed to, individuals only for the purposes of responding to the complaints or conducting the grievance procedure. Inappropriate access or disclosure of employee data constitutes a data breach and should be reported in accordance with the Trust's data protection policy immediately. It may also constitute a disciplinary offence, which will be dealt with under the Trust's disciplinary procedure.

6. Internal Advice and Support

- 6.1 Trade unions and professional associations can play an important role in assisting all parties to a complaint. The Trust welcomes the clearly stated support for this policy and procedure from the recognised trade unions and professional associations.
- 6.2 All parties will be able to contact Care First, the confidential counselling service.
- 6.3 Complainants may wish to seek advice on how best to resolve a particular complaint from Care First, a trades union or an employee support network.

7. Informal Resolution

- 7.1 Employees can raise any issues about their work with their Line Manager on an informal basis, either orally or in writing. If an employee chooses to submit their concern in writing it is expected that clear details regarding the concern/s are included within the written submission to enable the line manager to provide a full response. Open communication can often be the quickest and best way of resolving grievances, depending on the issues involved. As a formal process has the potential to polarise positions and ultimately make achieving a satisfactory resolution longer and more difficult, an expectation of this procedure is that before employees invoke the formal stage of this procedure, they first attempt to resolve their complaint informally by discussing their complaint with their Line Manager, or another suitable person. However, if any employee feels that their grievance has not been resolved to their satisfaction, through the informal options below, they can then proceed to the formal procedure as detailed below.

Informal options for resolving complaints informally are set out below.

- 7.2 Informal processes must not be used in the event of a serious allegation of racial or sexual bullying or harassment, or of an abusive or violent attack, as potentially a criminal act has taken place.
- 7.3 The Health and Safety Executive "Violence at Work Guidelines" recognise that "violence includes any incident in which a person is abused, threatened or assaulted in circumstances that relate to their work".
- 7.4 If the Line Manager is the perceived source of the problem the individual should initially raise it formally with either the Line Manager's Manager or in the case of the Headteacher, the Chair of Local Governors.

- 7.5 Unless the allegation is of a very serious nature, the decision as to how the case should be taken forward will rest with the complainant.
- 7.6 The following set of Informal Options are not obligatory, and the complainant may decide, if they so wish, to proceed immediately to the first formal stage.

7.7 Informal Option 1: One to One

The complainant may choose to talk directly to the person who is seen to be causing the problem.

This may be appropriate when:

- there are times when the working relationship is acceptable;
- the problems are recent;
- both parties are assertive (i.e. not passive or aggressive).

This may not be appropriate when:

- there have been threats or threatening behaviour.

Before the meeting, the complainant should prepare by setting out in writing:

- the behaviour/working practice/dispute that is the source of the grievance;
- specific times, dates.

The complainant may find completing the Employee Concern Form (Appendix 1) a helpful guide when setting out the problem in writing.

At the meeting, the complainant should be prepared to:

- clearly describe the behaviour/working practice/dispute that they are aggrieved about;
- explain why it is unacceptable;
- describe the behaviour/working practice/dispute that would be appropriate/acceptable;
- seek a resolution.

Benefits of this approach are:

- issues can be resolved quickly.
- relationships can be improved.

7.8 Informal Option 2: Facilitation

The complainant may prefer to talk directly to the person who is seen to be causing the problem, but with a Line Manager or HR Advisor in attendance to facilitate the discussion.

This may be appropriate when:

- there are times when the working relationship is acceptable;
- the problems are recent;
- both parties are assertive (i.e. not passive or aggressive).

This may not be appropriate when:

- the Line Manager is seen as causing the problem;
- there have been threats or threatening behaviour.

The complainant should first set out in writing, using the Employee Concern Form (Appendix 1):

- the behaviour/working practice/dispute that is the source of the grievance;
- specific times and dates and send this to their Line Manager or an HR Advisor with a request for them to facilitate a one to one discussion with the person who is seen as causing the problem.

The benefits of this approach are that:

- it allows preparation time;
- it enables the complainant to state what they want;
- it provides the complainant with a third party who can help to ensure an open and fair dialogue;
- it acts as a record.

Please note: HR advisors can only facilitate these discussions with the express permission of the Chair of Board or CEO or in the case of school staff, of the Chair of Local Governors or Headteacher.

7.9 Informal Option 3: Mediation

Mediation is an option that can be available to the employee, in appropriate circumstances, as an alternative way of resolving a grievance. Mediation is when an impartial, professionally trained, third party helps to facilitate discussion and seeks to support resolution between parties in order that working relationships can be maintained. If the complainant wishes to seek mediation, they should identify this as a desired resolution when completing the Employee Concern Form (Appendix 1) and send this to their Line Manager, or a more Senior Manager if the Line Manager is seen as causing the problem, who may then explore options around mediation. The HR Advisory Service has qualified mediators and can provide mediation as an additional chargeable service.

This approach is appropriate when:

- there is a need for support in dealing with a workplace dispute;
- there is agreement on the existence of a problem;
- both parties are willing to work for a win–win solution.

It would not be appropriate when:

- one or more people are unwilling to take part in the process;
- there has been serious bullying or victimisation;
- the parties are not able or prepared to negotiate.

The mediator will:

- identify what has happened by speaking confidentially to all parties separately;
- assess the best way to bring the parties together;
- hold a joint meeting;
- explore the issues;
- build the agreement for future working relationships.

The mediator will not:

- be able to solve the dispute;
- stick in the past;
- look to apportion responsibility/blame.

The benefits of this approach are that:

- it increases the likelihood of a resolution;
- it can improve working relationships.

See the Trust's Mediation Guidance, for more detail.

- 7.10 If agreement is reached that the grievance can be resolved informally then a letter should be sent confirming that the grievance will be dealt with informally (Appendix 2) and on completion of the informal stage, a letter should be sent confirming this stage has been completed (see Appendix 3).

8. Formal Stage

- 8.1 If an employee feels that their grievance has not been resolved to their satisfaction through the informal options above, they can raise the matter formally with their Line Manager by completing the Grievance Form – Formal Stage (Appendix 4). If the Line Manager is the perceived source of the problem, the individual should submit the form to either the Line Manager's Manager or in the case of the Headteacher, the Chair of Local Governors and in the case of the CEO the Chair of the Trust Board.

8.2 On receipt of a Grievance Form – Formal Stage (Appendix 4), the Manager/ Headteacher/ Chair of Board/Governors must meet with the complainant as soon as possible, and usually within 5 working days. The purpose of this meeting is for the complainant to explain the nature of their complaint and what action they feel should be taken to resolve the matter. If another employee is the subject of the complaint, they will need to be advised of the specific concerns raised against them in writing and invited to a meeting to discuss this and the proposed resolutions (See Appendix 7 for template letter). The recipient of the grievance should establish with the complainant that they are happy for the details of their grievance to be shared, in full, with the subject of the complaint prior to providing this. At these meetings, the option to resolve the matter informally (see Informal Resolutions above) can be discussed with all parties and, depending on the nature of the complaint, without the need to proceed to a formal grievance hearing. This is particularly important when the grievance appears to be concerned with a potentially minor issue which may not require pursuance through the formal grievance procedure.

If the matter is not successfully resolved informally, or if the grievance is in relation to a more serious matter, the grievance will proceed to a full grievance hearing to be held by the Headteacher or a Local Governor/Director.

8.3 Before proceeding to a full grievance hearing, the Manager/Headteacher/ Chair of Board/ Chair of Local Governors dealing with the grievance may decide that an investigation needs to be undertaken and they should identify an appropriate person not involved in the case to investigate the concerns which the employee has raised, including the events surrounding or leading up to the submission of the grievance. This investigation may include interviewing witnesses. Full guidance on conducting investigations is provided by the Trust's HR Advisory Service.

8.4 If a decision is taken to proceed to a full grievance hearing, the Manager/ Headteacher/Chair of Board/Chair of Local Governors of the grievance will invite the employee in writing to a grievance hearing (see Appendix 8 for template invite letter and Appendix 9 for further guidance on how the hearing is conducted). The hearing will be held as soon as is reasonably practicable and, subject to the need to carry out any prior investigations, normally within 10 working days of receipt of the formal grievance. Any evidence gathered in the course of an investigation into the concerns will be provided to all parties in advance of the hearing and will be used as a basis for the discussion at the hearing. The hearing will be conducted by the Headteacher, a Local Governor/panel of Local Governors or a Director/panel of Directors and may be attended by a HR Advisor. If an investigation has been undertaken into the concerns raised, the Investigating Officer should attend the hearing to respond to any questions relating to the process or the report that any of the parties might have.

The purpose of the grievance hearing is to provide the complainant with the opportunity to respond to the findings and any recommendations within the investigation report and raise any key points they wish to be considered prior to a final decision being made regarding whether the grievance is upheld or not.

If the subject of the grievance is another person or persons, the Line Manager/ Headteacher/ Local Governor/s Director/s hearing the grievance should also invite them to a separate meeting to provide them with the same opportunity to respond to the findings and any recommendations within the investigation report. This should take place before the Manger/Headteacher/Local Governor/s/ Director/s decides upon the outcome to the grievance and any action to be agreed.

Employees have the right to be accompanied to a grievance hearing by a trade union official or a work colleague. All parties must take all reasonable steps to attend the hearing at the specified time. If the complainant or their representative is not able to attend the hearing at the specific time, the hearing should be rearranged for a date normally not more than 5 working days after the date originally proposed. If the complainant fails to attend the hearing without explanation, or if it appears that they have not made sufficient attempts to attend, the hearing may take place in their absence.

- 8.5 All parties may, by mutual agreement, modify the time limits referred to above.
- 8.6 Adjournments may be sought by any party at any time during hearings.
- 8.7 The Line Manager/Headteacher/Director/Chair of Director panel/Governor /Chair of Local Governor Panel must inform the complainant, and any person who is the subject of the complaint, in writing of the outcome and any action they propose to take as a result of the complaint, normally within 5 working days of the hearing. The complainant and the subject of the complaint may discuss this outcome informally with their Manager.

9. Right of Appeal

- 9.1 The complainant has the right of appeal against the outcome of the first formal stage. To raise an appeal, they are asked to complete the Grievance Form – Appeal (see Appendix 12) within 10 working days of receipt of the written notification of the outcome of their formal grievance.

The complainant must clearly state the grounds of their appeal in the Grievance Form, i.e. the basis on which they believe that the outcome of the grievance was wrong or that the action taken as a result was inappropriate.

An appeal hearing should be arranged to take place normally within 5-15 working days of receipt of the appeal wherever possible.

- 9.2 A panel of at least 2 Governors (no less Governors may hear the appeal than made the original decision around resolution) will hear the appeal. The purpose of the appeal will be to consider the grounds of appeal that the complainant has put forward and to assess whether or not the conclusion reached in the original grievance hearing was appropriate.

The Appeal hearing will be conducted in accordance with the Appeal Procedure, see Section 2a, Governor Appeal Guidance and Procedure.

The Appeal Panel must inform the complainant, and any person who is the subject of the complaint, in writing of the outcome of the appeal and any action they propose to take as a result of this, normally within 5 working days of the meeting (see Appendix 14 for template letter). The complainant and the subject of the complaint may discuss the outcome informally with their Manager.

- 9.3 The matter will end at this stage unless it is agreed between the Trust and the trade unions concerned that an important matter of principle has arisen which should be considered in accordance with the appropriate negotiating machinery.

10. Monitoring the Resolution

- 10.1 Managers must ensure that the dispute has been resolved and that no retaliation occurs against any of the parties.
- 10.2 Managers should undertake a meeting with all parties after 3 to 6 months to review the progress of the resolution.

11. Collective Grievances

- 11.1 If a collective grievance arises, involving one or more employees within the same workplace, relating to the same issue, this may be dealt with through this policy and the group of employees may nominate a spokesperson to represent their case. The complainants raising the collective grievance will be entitled to only one grievance hearing and (if applicable) one appeal hearing. The collective complainants will be notified individually of the outcome of their collective grievance. If the complainants do not entirely voluntarily agree to this arrangement or if their grievances are not identical, arrangements should be put in place to hear their grievances individually.

12. Recording

- 12.1 The Health and Safety Executive "Violence at Work Guidelines" recognise that "violence includes any incident in which a person is abused, threatened or assaulted in circumstances that relate to their work".
- 12.2 Any violent incident involving an employee and a service user, or a member of the public should be dealt with in accordance with guidelines for completing the relevant EEC Form.
- 12.3 All Trusts have specific guidelines around Health and Safety and further advice can also be sought from the Trust's Health, Safety and Compliance Officer.

13. Complaints Having Left Employment

- 13.1 Wherever possible, an employee should raise a concern before leaving employment.
- 13.2 There is no legal requirement to deal with grievances raised by ex-employees. However, Line Managers/Headteachers may want to consider dealing with such grievances in order to identify possible employment tribunal complaints and, where possible and appropriate, prevent those grievances from becoming tribunal complaints.
- 13.3 If an employee wishes to raise a complaint having left employment, the employee should write to the Headteacher/Chair of Local Governors or Line Manager/Chair of the Board setting out their complaint within 3 months of leaving.
- 13.4 Where a complaint is received from an employee who has left employment, and it is decided to deal with this, this should be confirmed in writing to the ex-employee (see Appendix 15 for template letter). The concerns raised should be investigated prior to the Headteacher/Chair of Local Governor/another appropriate Local Governor, or Line Manager/Chair of Directors /another appropriate Director, sending a written response to the complainant. There is no requirement for the ex-employee to be invited to an investigation meeting or for a formal grievance hearing to be held. There will be no right of appeal in these situations.

14. The Disputes Procedure

- 14.1 Where a recognised professional association/trade union is in dispute with the Board of Directors, on behalf of its members, regarding a decision taken by the Local Governing Body/Board of Directors, which cannot be resolved in discussions between the Chair of the Board, the Line Manager/Headteacher and the association/union representatives, the matter should be referred to a panel of Directors forming a Personnel Committee and then, if appealed, onto the full Trust Board. From the outset the Line Manager/Headteacher, or Chair of the Trust Board, should seek advice from the HR Advisory Service.

Professional associations/trade unions should set out, in writing, the dispute that their members have with the Board of Directors. They should also state what resolution they are seeking on behalf of their members.

- 14.2 Where a dispute has arisen out of an attempt to change practices, other than in accordance with normal notice provisions, no change in the arrangements shall take place before the matter has been resolved to the satisfaction of both parties or until the procedures have been exhausted.
- 14.3 If the disputes procedure fails to resolve the issue, it may, by mutual agreement, be referred to the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service with a view to conciliation. If the dispute has not been resolved by conciliation, the matter may, by mutual agreement between employer and professional association/trade unions, be referred to arbitration. The decision shall be final and binding on both parties.

CONDUCTING A FORMAL GRIEVANCE HEARING

INTRODUCTION

The chair – will state that the Grievance Hearing is being conducted under the Grievance Resolution Procedure as a formal grievance.

They will explain the purpose of the hearing is to provide the employee with the opportunity to respond to the findings of the investigation report and confirm a written record of the hearing is being made. The chair will remind all parties present they are not permitted to record the hearing electronically and any breach of this provision may lead to disciplinary action against the employee.

They will then ask the parties present at the hearing to introduce themselves and confirm their respective roles in the hearing.

Hearing

The chair will invite the employee to respond to the investigation report. The employee may do this personally, or the employee's representative (if they have elected to be represented) may do this on their behalf.

The chair, during the hearing, will be able to refer to the investigation report and any written evidence that has been gathered during the investigation, including the consideration of any witness statements (where appropriate). The chair may ask the investigating officer and the employee (and any witnesses) questions for points of clarification but should be careful not to be seen to be re-investigating through questioning as the investigation should have gathered all of the key evidence on which the findings and recommendations have been reached. The chair has the right to ask the employee to personally answer any questions, although the employee may on request, confer with their representative at any time during the grievance hearing.

Concluding the Hearing

Once all the evidence has been heard, the chair will then inform the employee a decision will be made on whether to uphold or dismiss the grievance and they will be advised of this in writing, within 5 working days. The chair will inform the employee they have the right to appeal against the outcome of the grievance hearing, if they are not satisfied with it.

The chair will thank the parties for attending and close the hearing.
